Strike it Rich!

Prospector is a regional catalog of 44 academic, public and special libraries in Colorado and Wyoming.

Through Prospector you have access to over 34 million books, DVDs, CDs, journals, government documents, electronic resources and other materials held in these libraries.

With a single search you can identify and borrow materials from the collections and have them delivered to your local library.

How to Get There

Connect to Prospector through any member library catalog. You can easily move between your local catalog and Prospector at any time with a single keystroke. It is also possible to connect directly to Prospector at <http://prospectorhome.coalliance.org>, although users are encouraged to begin in their local system.

What You'll Find

You can search items by authors, titles, keywords, subject headings and many other access points to the millions of records which have been loaded into this central database. The system is continuously updated from each local library catalog and shows current circulation status, local call numbers and summary journal holdings information.

Prospector Borrowing

Quick, self-service borrowing is available to authorized users at any of the participating libraries. The system allows you to borrow most items that already circulate at local libraries including books, DVDs, CDs and other items. When you find what you want, just choose the "Request" option and follow the instructions on the screen. Your request will be processed within a few days and the item will be delivered to your local library at no cost to you.

Electronic Resources

Prospector also offers access to millions of electronic resources from governmental agencies, commercial e-books, downloadable audio and electronic journals. Many are available to everyone and others have limited access to card holders from a particular library. Not sure? Go to a full record and click on a link!
